Animal Shelters

Read Together

Like many living things, animals need shelter, food, water, and air. Animal shelters are places that can help meet these needs. Some of these places have vets who can help heal sick or injured animals.

Helping animals is a great thing to do. But if you find an animal that is lost or hurt, you should not touch it. It may not be safe. Ask an adult you know for help. Call an animal shelter, and they can help the animal get better!

Think and Share
